Hilton London Hyde Park Running / Jogging Map

The Serpentine Lake, Speaker's Corner, Rotten Row, the Princess Diana Memorial Fountain – Hyde Park is full of magnificent landmarks and history. Ever since it became Henry VIII's private hunting ground in 1536, this has been the green heart of the city, and its 350 acres are all yours to enjoy. The park is easily accessible from your hotel, and there is a range of running routes to suit the casual jogger or more experienced runner. All of the routes on this map offer some gentle undulations (typically between 25-35m elevation).

Must Know

- Surface : Sealed (with grass options and even a bridle trail).
- Terrain : Mild undulations.
- Times : Kensington Gardens is open from 6am to dusk and Hyde Park 5am to midnight.
- Toilets : Each of Kensington Gardens' four corners has a toilet, and in Hyde Park the Lido, Rose Gardens and south of the Reformer's Tree.
